“There was a need for a custom decorative carpentry company like Trim My Crib that could deliver high-quality work and a superior experience from beginning to end,” shares Venice residents Eric Johnston and Jamie Scholz. They combined their distinct skills with a love for artistic home décor to transform the decorative trim work business.

Eric has a background in new homes and development, with a family history in interior design and high-end home furnishings. “I spent over 20 years in model homes in Sarasota County, which always featured beautiful decorative trim work. Builders know it gives a home that ‘Wow Factor,’” says Eric. “However, most of that trim work wasn’t available through builders’ design centers, and when it was, it often didn’t make sense to include it in the home price due to its impact on annual taxes. I struggled to find craftsmen who were reliable, talented, insured, and licensed. Hiring the wrong people can be a very expensive mistake. That changed after I met Jamie.”

Jamie moved to Florida in 2020 and bought his home from Eric, becoming good friends. “I came from a place with high-quality craftsmen and saw a glaring need for that here,” says Jamie. “I take this work personally and plan to be here for the rest of my life. As a perfectionist, I ensure our work meets the highest standards, and people can trust us to deliver.”

Unique in the decorative carpentry business, Trim My Crib has a website showcasing hundreds of ideas for walls and ceilings, simplifying the process for customers to describe their vision or find inspiration. One of their most popular creations is outdoor ceilings for covered lanais and entries.

“We handcraft these ceilings, hand-stain the wood, and cover it with a spar varnish used by boat companies like Chris Craft. Each job is one of a kind,” says Jamie.

Voted Best of Venice in 2023 and praised with raving Google reviews, Trim My Crib offers unique, high-quality home décor trim work that has long been needed in the area. “I love what we do and the fascinating people we meet,” says Jamie. “More than anything, I love knowing that our work makes our customers’ homes special and that the experience we offer is unique and professional.”
